The House bill to incorporate [illegible] Telegraph Co. reported adversely.

Scott from the Ku Klux Committee reported a new bill [illegible] the exact language of the [illegible] suspension bill and [illegible] the Civil Rights bill, both of which passed the Senate last week.

Scott also reported Kellogg's bill as amended, providing for additional supervisors of election under the enforcement act.

Bayard objected to the second reading of the bill. He said the minority had no knowledge of the reference of the bills and he questioned the right of the Senate to refer them to a committee organized for a specified and entirely different purpose.

Sumner offered a resolution proposing an amendment to the Constitution providing for the election of President directly by the people and abolishing the Vice Presidency.

Consideration of the Tariff bill was resumed.

The House Labor Commission bill was after discussion and various amendments rejected 16 to [illegible].

WASHINGTON, May [illegible]—No intelligence relative to the decision of the British Government on the supplemental article had been received up to this forenoon. Maxwell Woodhull, Assistant Secretary of the Legation at London, arrived here to-day with official dispatches from Schenck.

Californians 116 and one wicket to go down; Victorians, 11[illegible]. Up to four o'clock the bets were ten to one in favor of the Victorians. The next match will be played on Monday, June 3. Weather and ground good.

VICTORIA, May 31.—The Victorians finished their second innings at one o'clock. They made a total for both innings 11[illegible]. The Californians are now in. They have made only [illegible] and [illegible] wickets down.

The Victorian Government fitted out an expedition to take observations of the recent eclipse of the sun. The state of the weather was such that the eclipse could not be seen. If the members of the expedition could not write about the eclipse, however, they could about the sights they saw. The Melbourne Leader gives the following relation:

The members of the Eclipse Expedition saw some remarkable things along the shores to the northward of our continent. Mr. Foord has a wonderful story, amply attested by witnesses, of a fish with four hands—a discovery which Darwinians must impound straight. This curiosity was found crawling on a piece of coral, fished up from the bottom of the sea. "The body was that of a fish," said Mr. Foord before the Royal Society last evening, "but wonderful to relate it had in place of fins four legs terminated by what you might call hands, by which it made its way rapidly over the coral reef. When set upon the skylight of the steamer, the fish stood upon its four legs, a sight to behold indeed. It was small and something like a lizard but with the body of a fish." Then Mr. White, of the Observatory, had wonders to relate about the rats. "The little island," he said, "upon which we pitched our tent, was overrun with them, and, what was extraordinary, they were of every color, from black to yellow and some tortoise-shell." Mr. White further went on, talking like some Robinson Crusoe or Gulliver: "These strange animals swarmed about our tent. We threw biscuit to them, which they devoured eagerly, but when we laid down a pan of water they all crowded about it, displaying the greatest excitement in the struggle to quench their thirst. Having eaten and drunk their fill they commenced to play, jumping one over the other and gamboling about in the most ludicrous manner. After this feast the rats were well behaved for a little time, but they soon began to get too audacious and familiar to be pleasant. They would bite our fingers, or other exposed parts of the body, and scramble up the inside of the tent from whence they would drop down upon us at night." After that Mr. Foord and Mr. White joined in a marvelous pelican story. Mr. Foord happened to be looking over the side of the vessel at the shore and saw a sight which fairly startled him. Upon the distant beach there was a long row of pelicans, standing erect and to all appearances seven or eight feet high. Mr. White witnessed the same phenomenon, but in a true scientific spirit, both savans agree in attributing the illusion to a mirage from the sea. Of course the gigantic pelicans could not have been brought to Victoria in their magical proportions, but we confess that we would like to have seen a box of the yellow and tortoise shell rats.

The New York Sun of May 11th says: The frail sex, as it is no doubt very inaptly called, is holding a National Suffrage Convention in this city. In the late period of its session on Friday a resolution was accepted, though not adopted, to the effect that a President and Vice President be nominated from either sex as may be preferable, and that both sexes participate in their election at the polls. It is difficult, of course, in contemplating the possibility of a female President of the United States, to disregard the physiological difficulties which stand in the way of such an Executive. To say nothing of the periodical functional incapacity for public business to which a female President is certain to be subjected, provided she is in the enjoyment of plenary health, there is a contingency in the event of her having a husband which might, for a greater or a less time, according to circumstances, completely remove her from the discharge of the duties of her office at a time when it would be most important that they should be most carefully exercised. It is hardly to be presumed that it is the intention of the aspiring ladies on their accession to the Chief Executive office of the nation to relinquish the pleasures and responsibilities incident to their sex, or to have criminal recourse to the expedients now too fashionable in married life for the purpose of avoiding the functions of maternity. We cannot believe them so self sacrificing as to deny themselves the former; we will not think so badly of them as to believe they will resort to improper prevention of the latter; and we submit that nothing would be so inconvenient, not to say absurd, as a female President in the chair of State awaiting the advent [illegible] [illegible] after its arrival.

HOW THEY SPELL IT.—The Antioch Ledger remarks as follows on the subject of the liberties taken by the people in spelling the names of towns: A person would naturally suppose that any one at all familiar with the Bible would know how to spell correctly that place where men were first called Christians. Antioch. Yet letters have come to this postoffice during the administration of S. Abbott spelled as follows: "Antioche, Antyoce, Antyoce, Anteoch, Anteoche, Antiok, Antyoch, Antioke, Antiocke, Antyock, Anty Ok, Anti Orke, Anti Ok, Anty Oche, Antiock, Antaoch, Antaorck, Antaok and Antache."

POLITICAL NOTES

The [illegible] [illegible] is now inclined to pity the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] for the Presidency when he reads that the Southern leaders fail to appreciate the sacrifices he made in going bail for Jefferson Davis.

The New York World gives a list of one hundred and twenty eight papers that support the Cincinnati ticket. When it is remembered that there are between five and six thousand newspapers in the country, it will be seen that the strength of the Liberal movement in this direction is positively alarming.

Why will not some "Liberal" paper say a good word for Brown? About the last opinion we have seen of him was that expressed by the Cincinnati Commercial two or three weeks before the nomination. That paper remarked, with a frankness that is in singular contrast to its present reticence, that Brown was very "thin timber." But if thin timber for a President, is he any better for a Vice President?

The Christian Union says: "The defection of Mr. Greeley and his nomination by the Cincinnati Convention, has brought surprise and uncertainty for the moment upon the public mind, but it ought not for an instant to throw doubt upon the path of duty. The Philadelphia Convention is now bound, even if it were not its duty before, to raise up the old Republican banner under which have been gained such illustrious victories and to print upon it the name of General Grant!"

Mr. Edward Atkinson, one of the Massachusetts delegation to the Cincinnati Convention, takes the defeat of the Free Traders there so much to heart that he comes out in a letter suggesting the holding of a mass meeting at the capital of every State on the same day and the same hour, to see what action may be taken to secure the election of George Francis Adams as President. It is well. Let us have Adams, by all means, added to the already long list of candidates.

The Hon. Alexander H. Stephens is not to be carried into support of the Cincinnati ticket, and is very severe on what he terms the efforts of Mr. Belmont and the New York World to betray the Democratic party. He thinks Mr. Greeley "did a most magnanimous act in standing bail for Mr. Davis, but in this he acted a part no more magnanimous than General Grant did when he notified Mr. Stanton or the authorities at Washington that he would resign his commission in the army if General Lee should be arrested as was about to be done in violation of the parole given him on the memorable surrender of Appomattox Court House."

The Independent says: "It is a noticeable circumstance that Senator Sumner, however much he may be opposed to General Grant, is not among the Liberal Republicans who went up to Cincinnati. He has as yet said nothing and done nothing, so far as the public know, which commits him to the support of the Greeley ticket. He could not do so without misrepresenting the overwhelming sentiment of his own State. The Republicans of Massachusetts are with but few exceptions determined to sustain the Republican party and its principles; and Mr. Sumner, as their representative, owes it to his position not to betray them or desert their flag. We should be greatly disappointed were he to imitate the example of Senator Fenton and Chief Justice Chase, both of whom have already passed into the ranks of those politicians who have lived too long for their credit."

Greeley on Grant.

The following is an extract from a speech made by Horace Greeley on the 5th January, 1871, at the re-organization of the Republican General Committee of the State of New York, as published in the New York Tribune:

As to the administration of General Grant, I recognize no one as a Republican who is not grateful for its judicious, energetic, and successful efforts to procure the ratification of the 15th amendment, that keystone of our political arch whereby the fruits of our great triumph over rebellion and slavery are assured and perpetrated.

That the President has made some mistakes in appointments is obvious—it would be strange, indeed, if one so inexperienced in the conduct of political affairs had wholly escaped them. Whatever blame may justly attach to this falls rightfully on us, who took him from the head of the army and made him our civil Chief Magistrate, fully aware that he had never voted a Republican ticket, if, indeed, he had voted at all. While asserting the right of every Republican to his untrammeled choice of a candidate for next President until a nomination is made, I venture to suggest that Gen. Grant will be far better qualified for that momentous trust in 1872 than he was in 1868. Such, gentlemen, are the ideas and convictions which have impelled me to take my place among you and accept the responsibility you have imposed upon me. Let us take care to act with substantial unanimity, with such evident moderation and fairness that our friends throughout the State and the Union shall see and feel that we are doing our utmost to unite and strengthen the Republican party and animate it with well grounded and sanguine hopes of future triumphs.

DRAGGING HIS RECORD IN.—The Liberal press scold and fret because Mr. Greeley's record is dragged into the present contest. His friends insist that his letter to the loyal Governors, urging them to repudiate the nomination of Mr. Lincoln in 1864, should be dropped out of the fight. They are equally anxious that General Grant's war record should be forgotten. But the people will not consent to it. The Democratic party has been begging to be excused from its record these ten years; but there it kept up in the rear of the Union armies its declaration in 1864, that the war was a failure, and its ill concealed satisfaction at Rebel victories and Union defeats were remembered in 1867 and in 1868, and will not be forgotten in November 1872. Any man who seeks Democratic indorsement and support must be prepared to shoulder the Democratic record of humiliation and shame. This added to the thousand and one personal tergiversations of Mr. Greeley will crush him as with the weight of a millstone. Honest men of unblemished lives are always proud of their record; only rogues wish to draw a veil over their history. The den and of the Liberals that the war be forgotten, that Confederate cruelty to Union prisoners be remembered no more, and that years of treason and rebellion on the one hand and loyalty and devotion to the Union on the other be blotted out of the recollection of the people, is the piteous cry of the criminal for mercy and quarter. Mercy and quarter may be granted, but oblivion of crime never. The Democratic party is unworthy the confidence of the country, and the people will not be deceived by its attempt to steal into power under the name of Liberalism.—Inter Ocean.

THE WRONG TICKET.—A New York correspondent tells the following story: A well known doctor of divinity was riding the other day in a street car in company with a friend. He is a positive man and resents an insult vehemently. Earnestly engaged in conversation he handed the conductor a ticket as he came to collect the fare. The conductor did not move on. As he remained studying the ticket the doctor's attention was attracted to the official, who seemed to be highly interested in the car ticket. He read it, smiled, shook his head and finally said to the doctor: "This may be all very well, but the ticket is not good on this line." "What is the reason it's not good? I should like to know?" said the testy doctor; "it's one of your own tickets; I bought it this morning." "I guess not," said the conductor. The altercation drew the attention of the passengers. "This is very good advice, but it will not pass over this line," and the conductor read: "Thou shalt not take the name of the Lord thy God in vain." An explosion followed, amid which the doctor paid his fare and left the car. He has concluded to keep his religious cards in one pocket and his [illegible] in another.

THE NEWSPAPER SUBSCRIPTION NUISANCE.—A correspondent of the Golden Age writes from Richfield, Ohio:

There is an old and absurd law of Congress which ought to have been repealed long ago, which allows a publisher to continue sending his paper after the expiration of the time for which it was ordered, and if I have received a number for which I have not paid, he can continue sending it indefinitely, and if I have the means he can collect the bill. Can we not get this absurd law repealed? Let us get the law repealed, if possible, for the benefit of publishers as well as subscribers. A short time ago I bought of our Postmaster a lot of old papers, and in one of them—a Boston medical journal—I found a bill for $63, for 13 years' subscription. The physician to whom this journal was sent, had removed to Iowa several years before, and consequently the bill was not collectable. What say the publishers?

The D[illegible] Crusade

[illegible] energ[illegible] and State [illegible] business [illegible] in the [illegible] the general growth [illegible] development [illegible] country [illegible] strike at his prosperity [illegible] policy and measures which [illegible] blinded by mere partisan folly.

For the [illegible] made [illegible] and its party [illegible] crusade against the commercial development and progress of the State. The measures and enterprises which that party opposes are those which have done more for Oregon than all others of every description. To them Portland owes [illegible] great degree of the prosperity it now enjoys. On their continuance and success the future of the city depends.

The Herald talks as if Holladay's enterprises had throttled the State and were about to prove its destruction. [illegible] this hypothesis it makes war on Holladay, asserts that the Republican party is in league with him and appeals to the commercial men of Portland and to the people everywhere to rescue the city and State from the blighting effect of his operations. This is the scope of the Democratic campaign. It is simply an assault on those enterprises which have quickened the whole course of commercial and social life in Oregon, aroused new activities and introduced a new and energizing force in the affairs of the State.

It is true that Oregon many years ago was a good country to live in, [illegible] but who would exchange the situation of to-day with that of ten years ago? It is asserted that transportation is monopolized. But is it monopolized to a greater extent than heretofore? One company monopolizes the trade of the upper Columbia river and has done so for many years. Until railroad construction began one company had always monopolized the transportation of the Walamet valley. Is monopoly anything new? In spite however, of all that is said about the oppression caused by the railroad monopoly, it is true that as a general rule freights and fares are now much lower than they were before railroad construction began in the State. People travel with ease, speed and [illegible] and at much less cost than formerly. Where is the oppression?

Railroad enterprise is building up this city. The Herald and its party want to check it. Railroad enterprise is contributing largely to the wealth and prosperity of the State. The Herald, and its party assume that it is drying up the fountains of both. Can that paper suppose that it can make merchants and commercial men believe its absurdities? No man with brains enough to manage the business of a peanut stand could be moved by such reasons. The commercial and business interests of Portland are enlisted with the Republican party in this contest. The Democratic party is simply fighting against the improvement and development of the country, and the Herald in presuming to give advice to the merchants and commercial men of Portland is guilty of folly and impertinence.

Logic about Monopolies

A project has been for some time on foot for the construction of a railroad from Portland up the Columbia river and eastward [illegible] Salt Lake. A single steamboat company [illegible] many years has had a monopoly of transportation on that river. No person has been able to pass up or down without paying tribute to that company. Yet we haven't heard the Democracy exclaiming on that account.

Now suppose some capitalist were to take hold of the proposed railroad up the Columbia river and begin to build it. Then suppose it should be discovered immediately that this railroad was a very dangerous monopoly. That would be exactly the discovery which has been made by the Democratic party in regard [illegible] the railroad [illegible] has been built up the Wallamet valley.

There never was a monopoly [illegible] railroad was built, though there never [illegible] but one line of transportation [illegible] steamboat company had it all their own way there was no alarm in the Democratic mind; but as soon as an additional line of transportation was opened there was a fear of monopoly, and the interests of the people were put in great peril.

By the same reasoning an additional line of transportation up the Columbia river would establish a very dangerous monopoly there, and there would be fresh alarm in the Democratic mind. Hence the opposition [illegible] the Democracy to the Portland, D[illegible] and Salt Lake railroad.

Some of our Democratic cotemporaries are trying to prove that the Greeley [illegible] divided the Republicans in Connecticut which united the Greeleyites and Democrats to re-elect Senator Ferry for a second term. Such is not a fact. The difficulty between Mr Hawley and Ferry was of a personal character. The Greeley influence [illegible] was with Hawley. The Springfield Republican, the only Republican paper of influence in New England that supported Greeley, was a warm supporter of Mr Hawley. Dr Leonard Bacon and ex President Woolsey, who are understood to have supported Ferry, have been open and acknowledged opponents of the Cincinnati movement from the start. Mr Ferry himself has no sympathy with the Liberal Republican movement. The New Haven Palladium, which was an earnest supporter of Ferry, says: "In our opinion the question of Grant or anti Grant does not enter into the contest. It was simply a contest between two Republicans and the Democrats had the casting [illegible] which they threw in favor of Ferry."

John was so frightened [illegible] his situation and concluding that discretion was the better part of valor [illegible] the matter by letting [illegible] precipitate retreat, which the Dollies accepted by sending their little ones with rocks and clubs to pelt the traveler out of town. So making kindling wood out of the heathen's tubs, the noble heroine Dollies returned in glory to their homes amidst the applause of approving husbands.

The Eruption of Mt Vesuvius

In its Naples correspondence April 29th the London [illegible] had the following additional details of the eruption at Vesuvius:

Fancy a fiery torrent thirty metres wide and six [illegible] high [illegible] down and destroying all it encountered. Houses and [illegible] buried in burning lava [illegible] flowers [illegible] On the San S[illegible] [illegible] great [illegible] half naked taking with them [illegible] sheep [illegible] children [illegible] their backs, young men and women with mattresses and kitchen utensils on their shoulders, all running down towards Naples. The King was at San Sebastiano and remained there a long time distributing sums of money and [illegible] the local authorities. I wished to see something more than mere vineyards covered with the black rain, and looked out for a man who could carry me up the hill across the field to spots where the lava still came running down from Mount Vesuvius. I passed several military posts and soon found myself before a wonderful sight. It is a torrent which I might describe as of burning coke—a torrent of enormous width, perhaps a mile, and twenty-five feet in height, but it has not stopped in its course. Which with the heat of the sun and the heat of the lava was almost enough to melt one. This terrible torrent of fire has only stopped after advancing a distance of ten miles. A courier who arrived this morning from San Sebastiano said that while it was still dark he was attracted by cries proceeding from one of the slopes of the hill. On looking in that direction he could distinguish several persons making signals with white handkerchiefs. The authorities at once dispatched some [illegible] to the spot. It is supposed that [illegible] people were shut up between the lava and [illegible] ever since. The lava being [illegible] be easy to form a bridge [illegible] there seems [illegible] as to the fate encountered by a party of several persons who left [illegible] for Vesuvius on the 2[illegible]th. They were in a carriage, and nothing has been heard of them since that terrible night. Several of the wounded who lay at the hospital are now dead in consequence of severe injuries received. No precise date as to the total of deaths has been obtained. The number of victims is [illegible] 80.

SATURDAY MORNING JUNE 1 1872

CITY.

First Concert —The first concert of the series was given last evening at the new Masonic Hall by Miss Mehlig assisted by Messrs DePrans Neufeld, Miss Jennie Rosenheim and the singing section of the [illegible] and Turners The large, capacious house was crowded with ladies and gentlemen We have scarcely ever witnessed a more refined and fashionable audience than was present to greet the debut of this celebrated pianist The programme offered was one of the most attractive ever presented to a Portland audience and was as follows Part First—Chorus Still Ruhte Die Liebe sung by the Singing Section of the Turners solo Let me Love Thee (Arditi) sung by Miss Rosenheim Faust Waltz (Liszt), performed by Miss Mehlig Non e Ver, solo, sung by Prof Neufeld Nocturne (Chopin), and Polka de la Reine Raff) performed by Miss Mehlig Part Second—Grand Polonaise piano and organ duet (Blessner), by Messrs DePrans and Neufeld, Rondo Capriccioso (Mendelssohn) by Miss Mehlig La Tenerezza (Brambilla) solo, by Mr Neufeld, imitation A La Valse (Weber), by Miss Mehlig, chorus Schon die Abendglocken by the Singing Section

In its varied details, the concert was excellently [illegible], and was received with marked enthusiasm. Nearly every piece was loudly encored [illegible] the brilliant performance of Miss Mehlig [illegible] this lady's performance on the piano, we [illegible] a loss to describe There is a decided mas[illegible] touch on the more loud and broken parts which at times was most thrilling, brilliant [illegible], almost wonderful. Under her rapid [illegible] the piano seems to become a thing of life. From a loud and thundering forte, she [illegible] into the softest and most exquisitely [illegible] trills, while the music seems to ripple [illegible] under her magical touch with an ease [illegible] that has never been surpassed or [illegible] by any other artists who has ever visited [illegible]. She appears to perform everything [illegible] from memory, from Bach, We[illegible] to Liszt and Rubenstein the most [illegible] of the modern as well as the deep [illegible] more ones of the classical [illegible] for our piano forte playing amateurs [illegible] that these concerts will be of [illegible]. They will have for the first [illegible] and profit of hearing a really [illegible] of the master works of the [illegible] of the past [illegible] will give her second grand concert [illegible], on next Tuesday evening

[illegible] House Work —The iron work for the [illegible] tower soon to be erected at Cape Foul[illegible] [illegible] This work was turned out at the Oregon Iron Works in this city It [illegible] not only the iron used about the base of [illegible],—the platforms, brackets, braces and [illegible] but also the iron stairway reaching from [illegible] ground to within a few feet of the top, where [illegible] lanterns to be placed. This flight [illegible] stairs, on a direct line, is about 81 feet in length, and winds spirally from one side of the wall to the other. There are five sections [illegible] stairs, four of which complete a half circle, [illegible] which makes a complete circle The [illegible] in the manner in which [illegible] is formed and put [illegible] will compare with any work of the kind [illegible] on the [illegible]. All this iron work is [illegible] The entire cost of the [illegible], is $9,722.

They also wish to express their most sincere obligations to the large and intelligent audience for their attendance, unwearied attention, and for the strict decorum observed.

An Empty Effort —A political meeting was held last evening in East Portland by the democ[illegible] "Dollies" The speakers were Messrs Page and Shattuck All the excitement discernable was the incessant blowing of horns, pounding of [illegible] sheep skin, and an occasional sky [illegible] which cleft the tranquil evening air There was not the shadow of enthusiasm, and the [illegible] literally "fizzled out" at an early hour.

Time of Opening —The polls in the various [illegible] in this county will open promptly at 8 [illegible] A. REPUBLICAN SPEAKING

The Court House was filled last night to overflowing by ladies and gentlemen to listen to the speech of Hon John H Mitchell on the political issues of the day We have not seen so large and enthusiastic an assemblage during the present political campaign At 8 o'clock the speaker was introduced and said he did not propose [illegible] the charges [illegible] [illegible] the Democratic party fostering within corruption steeped in crime and glutted with spoils ready to deliver up the Government into the hands of its enemies but the Republicans took it out of their hands and saved the country from those who would have become its destroyers He then gave the history of the two parties since that time and showed the audience that it would not be for the interest of the Nation to abandon the Republican party and give control to that party which had abandoned all its time honored principles of free trade etc and taken refuge in the bosom of Horace Greeley the greatest protectionist of the United States

In this county Oliver P[illegible], [illegible] Mason and a few others had hoisted a bunting of their own getting up upon the public attention and called it a People's Ticket

He dealt some telling blows on the many perfidious and infamous acts of the last Legislature—especially the Litigant law which he said instead of being called an Act to protect litigants should be called the Democratic newspaper subsidizing law the Swamp Land bill by which a ring of Democratic favorites were enabled to gobble up the entire swamp lands of the State The Lock swindle at Oregon City by which the children of Oregon were robbed of a fund that had been set apart for educational purposes and especially giving an extra $75 000 bonus to a corporation simply because that corporation was Democratic he characterized as a great and unpardonable legislative fraud The Metropolitan Police bill forced upon the people of this city against their will was also shown up in all its unconstitutionality and atrociousness In all these things the speaker showed that more of a one man power never existed in any community than that conferred on Grover in this State by the Legislature two years ago The men who were crying out one man power and monopoly were all the tools and satraps of Grover and the advocates of the most complete monopoly in the State Governor Grover's plans, in his efforts to secure his own personal and selfish objects at the expense and (if need be) upon the ruins of the country, were laid bare the false assertions and unfounded statements of Nesmith were refuted by sound arguments the fanatical and rantankerous statements of Shattuck, Strong Page, Mason and the whole Dolly Varden hosts were exposed to the most severe castigation and held up to the ridicule which they deserve His description of Oregon's future, with a liberal policy and the encouragement of enterprises of all kinds was really fine, and nothing else than a verbatim report would do Mr Mitchell justice in many parts of his speech He closed by advising the citizens of Portland to stand by the party of progress and improvement and to allow nothing to deter them from an earnest discharge of their duty at the polls next Monday

We are no prophet nor the son of a prophet but when we see an audience equal in numbers and enthusiasm to the one at the Court House last night, we feel safe in coming to the conclusion that their presence and weight and influence will tell at the polls on Monday next in such a way that Multnomah will do her full share in redeeming our State from the plunderers and swindlers who now hold the reins of government

A Wholesome Stimulant, That is Absolutely Pure.

Physicians throughout the world agree as to the necessity for diffusive stimulants in medical practice but complain and with good reason of the impossibility of obtaining the pure The difficulty here presented would be a serious one indeed if the class of agents was limited to the adulterated liquors and wines of trade It vanishes however when the absolute purity and extraordinary restorative properties of Hostetter's Bitters are taken into consideration As a stimulant the article is absolutely free from everything objectionable; but this is only one of its recommendations If it were nothing more than an excitant its effects would be fleeting It might refresh and revive the system for a few minutes, but could produce no permanent benefit The stimulating element of the Bitters is a means not an end The tonic antibilious depurative and aperient vegetable juices combined in the preparation are the agents that impart vigor and regularity to the weakened and disordered organs but without the spirituous principle being chiefly useful in diffusing their influence through the system and otherwise facilitating their operation Alcohol even in its purest form is not so much a medicine as a motive power by which the specifics of the vegetable kingdom may be brought to bear upon the debilitated and disordered organs that require renovating and regulating; and it is in this way that the pure essence of rye incorporated in Hostetter's Bitters increase the efficacy of the potent medicating elements

"Where Earth and Heaven Meet."

Whether between the meadows green,
Where [illegible] shallow [illegible],
Or silent snow-fields intervene
With trees of leafless gray,
Or stately hills send down [illegible]
To blue lakes at their feet—
Beyond them all I seek the one
Where earth and heaven meet.

[illegible]
[illegible]
And there the summer showers arise
When all the fields are dry,
And [illegible]
Come thoughts both sad and sweet,
When gazing on that distant line
Where earth and heaven meet.

Sometimes remote it seems, [illegible]
Through earthly mists [illegible],
Again, distinct and near [illegible]
Before my longing eyes.
O face beloved I cannot see!
O lips I may not greet
Till Life's [illegible] line [illegible]
Where earth and heaven meet.

LITTLE POTTER.

AN INCIDENT OF THE LATE REBELLION.

A short, little, square built, dark skinned twinkling-eyed young fellow, was known the regiment over as "Little Potter." The name came from his trade before war times, and from the fact that he was always talking shop, and examining clays with all the enthusiasm of a geologist. He had the faculty of becoming interested in anything that any other man was doing. Standing near the picket fire, though uncomfortable himself, he could always suggest a way in which to make the coffee boil, and would gather up little splinters and pile under or about the little kettle with the keenest enjoyment, although the coffee belonged to the most taciturn man in the company. He showed this kindly interest in every man's affairs, and of course was universally liked.

At Shiloh, in the midst of the second day's battle, Little Potter left the company to get water for himself and several of his companions. A quick change of position, a new line of battle formation, took place after his departure, and Little Potter was seen no more for several days. After the rebels retreated, he was acting as nurse at the brigade hospital. He couldn't find the regiment on his return, but found the hospital, and the division surgeon ordered him on duty, and discovering his excellence as a nurse, would not let him return to the company.

There was a quarrel between the captain and the surgeon, the former seeing Little Potter as a skulker, and the latter seeing him as a useful man who had made a mistake through no fault of his own. The captain reported Potter absent without leave, and he was court martialed. The sentence was that he should forfeit six months' pay. The men of the company were very indignant, but Potter said nothing. The stoppage of six months pay told sorely on him, but he weathered the storm, and came out as serene as though he had never been court-martialed.

Much clothing was lost at Shiloh, and a list was made out of clothing lost in battle. The sergeant would ask:

"Well, Blame, what did you lose at Shiloh?"

Answer: "An overcoat and knapsack."

"What did you lose at Shiloh, Potter?"

With indescribable drollery, Potter said with a sort of lisp that was characteristic:

"I lotht theventy-eight dollarth!"

This was the only reference he made to the court martial and the six months' pay until the morning of the terrible December 31, at Stone river. In the hurry of the company formation for battle, Little Potter was the first man in place, after the orderly, and though the shortest man in the company, he held his place there in face of the rule to the contrary. There was a sweeping charge. That company left their dead further to the front that day. They were cruelly crushed, relentlessly driven.

Little Potter was a giant in doing. He kept his place next to the orderly when the company was broken and scattered. With a [illegible] that would, under other circumstances have been droll, he formed on the orderly whenever a charge was made, and while it was every man for himself. As he was ramming home a load, a ball struck him in the fleshy part of the leg, cutting a great gash and tearing his clothes. He was advised to go to the rear. The reply was:

"I will show them who is a coward."

A shot struck him in the left shoulder, and he became deadly pale. Still with teeth and right hand he managed to fire. Another shot struck him in the thigh, and he fell. He was dragged to a stump and placed so that the raking fire would not touch him. He deliberately crawled round and placed himself so as to face the rebels, and as the company gave back in one of those almost hand-to-hand fights, Little Potter kissed his hand to the men nearest him and nestled down with a sigh of relief.

Days afterward the sergeant found a pair of black eyes glistening from festoons of white sheets, in a hospital at Murfreesboro. They belonged to Little Potter, broken-legged, broken-armed and bandaged. He could not move and could hardly speak. But as the tearful mess stood over him, he lisped: "We walloped them, didn't we?"

The rebels found him braced against the stump punching at them with his gun held in one hand, as they ran by. He was taken to the hospital, and here, day after day, went his old comrades to see him. They did more; they wrote to General Rosecrans, telling the simple story. They carried the letter along the red tape line, from brigade headquarters to division, from division to corps, from corps to army headquarters, and returned with an order from Rosecrans himself, directing that the six months' pay be returned to Little Potter, that all charges on the record be erased, and that an order complimenting his gallantry be read on dress parade, and that a copy be sent to the man who behaved so nobly. The order was read on dress parade, and the document, with all its array of endorsements and old Rosa's letter were carried to Little Potter, by men who could scarcely speak. He seemed like one transfigured, as one of his old time friends read and re-read the order and letter. He had it held down to his eyes so he could see the red lines and official signatures. Then came his first [illegible]:

"Now, boys, I don't care to get well. It's all wiped out, ain't it? I was determined to get well to wipe it out, you know. But torn up as I am, it is better to die."

And the next morning, with the order and old Rosa's letter on his breast, Little Potter died. And still can we hear the grizzly old surgeon's words, as he came to the cot: "Dead? Why—God bless the boy."

An infant daughter of Jennie June Croly has been voted by acclamation an honorary member of the Sorosis Club.

REPUBLICAN PLATFORM.

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED BY THE STATE REPUBLICAN CONVENTION AT PORTLAND, MARCH 20, 1872.

The Union Republican party of Oregon, in Convention, makes this declaration of its principles and policies:

1. To the Constitution of the United States and all its amendments we pledge our unfaltering allegiance, to its authority a willing obedience; to its full and legal construction and enforcement our constant support.

2. That the success of the present National Administration in reducing the public debt, diminishing and equalizing taxation, administering every branch of public affairs with economy and efficiency, reforming and improving the civil service, enforcing the laws without fear or favor, protecting the nation's wards with paternal care against the cruel avarice of speculation and fraud, and maintaining friendly relations with Foreign Powers, has been such as to command the approbation of the great majority of the American people, and justly entitle it to the confidence and commendation of every true Republican.

3. We regard the payment of our national debt, in full compliance with all legal obligations to all our creditors everywhere, and in accordance with the true letter and spirit of its contracting, as no longer a question in issue; but that we may be clearly understood, we denounce all forms and degrees of repudiation of that debt, as affirmed by the Democratic party and its sympathizers, as not only national calamities, but positive crimes, and we will never consent to a suspicion of lack of honor or justice in its complete satisfaction.

4. We admit of no distinctions between citizens, whether of native or foreign birth; and therefore we favor the granting of full amnesty to the people of those States lately in rebellion; and we here pledge the full and effective protection of our civil laws to all persons voluntarily coming to or residing in our land.

5. We favor the encouragement of railroads by the General Government of the United States, and hold that such disposition should be made of the public lands as shall secure the same to actual settlers only, in quantities not exceeding 160 acres.

6. That while we are in favor of a revenue for the support of the General Government, by duties upon imports, sound policy requires such adjustment of those duties on imports as to encourage the development of the industrial interest of the whole country; and we recommend that policy of national exchange which secures to the working men liberal wages, to agriculture remunerative prices; to mechanics and manufacturers an adequate reward for their skill, labor and enterprise, and to the Nation commercial prosperity and independence.

7. We believe that popular education is the sole true basis and hope of a free government, and shall ever oppose any diversion of, or interference with the common school funds or lands in this State, for any other than their legitimate purpose, and we condemn the act of favoritism by the last Legislature whereby two hundred thousand dollars, taken from the school fund, were granted to a corporation consisting mainly of Democratic leaders and party favorites, for the construction of a work which another corporation, entirely sound and responsible, offered to construct for seventy five thousand dollars less, and that we are in favor of the passage by the Legislature of an efficient school law, such as shall secure to all citizens of our State a good common school education.

8. We find no terms sufficiently strong to express our disapproval of those acts of the last Legislature whereby the swamp lands belonging to this State have been taken from the needy settlers, and given with out limit or proper competition in price to the land grabber and speculator, whereby the emoluments and salaries of State officers have been unconstitutionally increased, and the taxes increased thousands of dollars by the creation of new and unnecessary offices and salaries, for the purpose of providing for party favorites, and whereby the citizens of our metropolis have been deprived of and denied the right of controlling their police authority. And we equally condemn the administration of our State officers and laws as extravagant, reckless, illegal and destructive, and we gladly charge all those results as the acts of the Democratic party.

9. We are in favor of the United States giving to each honorably discharged soldier who served in the armies of the United States to put down the rebellion a warrant for a homestead of 160 acres of public lands.

10. That we demand the repeal of the so called infamous act, which was devised to support pauper Democratic newspapers at the public expense.

11. That the Republican party of this State are in favor of the General Government extending aid toward building a railroad from Portland, Oregon, to Salt Lake City, and from Jackson county to Humboldt, and we hereby pledge our party representatives to the support of the same.

12. That the indiscriminate licensing of persons to sell spirituous liquors without being placed under proper responsibilities for the abuse thereof having been found by experience to promote the growth of crime and pauperism, and thereby to seriously increase the rate of taxation, the Republican party recognize the right and duty of the law-making power to prevent and limit the evils and abuses of such sale, so far as concerns the public good and is consistent with individual liberty, by refusing to license other than law-abiding and responsible persons, who can furnish sufficient sureties for good conduct.

13. That the Republican party of Oregon is in favor of obtaining assistance from the General Government for the construction of a wagon road from the city of Portland to the Dalles, recognizing this as a most important and necessary improvement for the State.

14. We affirm that the continuance in power of the Republican party is the only sure preservation of national peace and prosperity [illegible]

15. We hail the New [illegible] Presidential campaign.
